

BUILDING CHANGE FILM FESTIVAL

Check out

Hip Hop Rev...

And more screenings at

The Kelly-Strayhorn Theater

Screening Schedule

Sunday 10/16

2 PM

Challenging Power (2011;
18 min.)

New Muslim Cool (2009; 83
min.)

5 PM

Why Us? Left Behind and Dying (2009; 86 min.)
Hip Hop Rev (45 min.)

7 PM

We Always Resist: Trust Black Women (2011; 24
min.)

East of Liberty (2009)

The Building Change Festival

will run for five days at five theaters in Pittsburgh. The festival will present many films of quality dealing with a wide array of important social problems and issues. These films by both local and

Hip Hop Rev

(45 min.)

This documentary follows the life of Rev. Lennox Yearwood, Jr. for one year as he leads urban communities into economic and environmental activism as the president and CEO of the Hip Hop Caucus, a civil and human rights organization.

Over the course of the year the civil rights activist feels personally motivated to campaign towards youth for solutions to climate change, pollution and poverty in the streets rather than inside of a church.

Check out these films screening at The Kelly-Strayhorn Theater

Challenging Power... is a short that documents the decision and significance behind the Olympia Food Co-op boycott of Israeli products.

New Muslim Cool... is about a drug dealer who converts to Islam and forms a rap group to bring together his community with Islam's religious message.

national filmmakers celebrate struggle and achievement, shed light on injustice and inequity, and show us possibilities for a better future.

To view the complete schedule and show times visit

www.buildingchangewpa.org

Three Rivers Community Foundation
100 North Braddock Ave
Pittsburgh, Pennsylvania
15208
trcf@trcf.net

Why us? Left Behind and Dying... investigates the reasons why HIV/AIDS is disproportionately higher in black communities with interviews from a small group of inner-city African American teenagers in Pittsburgh, PA.

We Always Resist: Trust Black Women... documents the activist response to an anti-abortion billboard campaign which targets black women.

East of Liberty... interviews the residents of East Liberty in Pittsburgh on the recent changes and development to the neighborhood.

BUILDING
change
a convergence for social justice

The Building Change Film Festival will run in concert with Building Change: A Convergence for Social Justice, to be held at the Heinz History Center, October 13-15. The Convergence will present a mix of skill-building workshops and community dialogues on key social justice issues.

Like us on Facebook 